An Invitation...

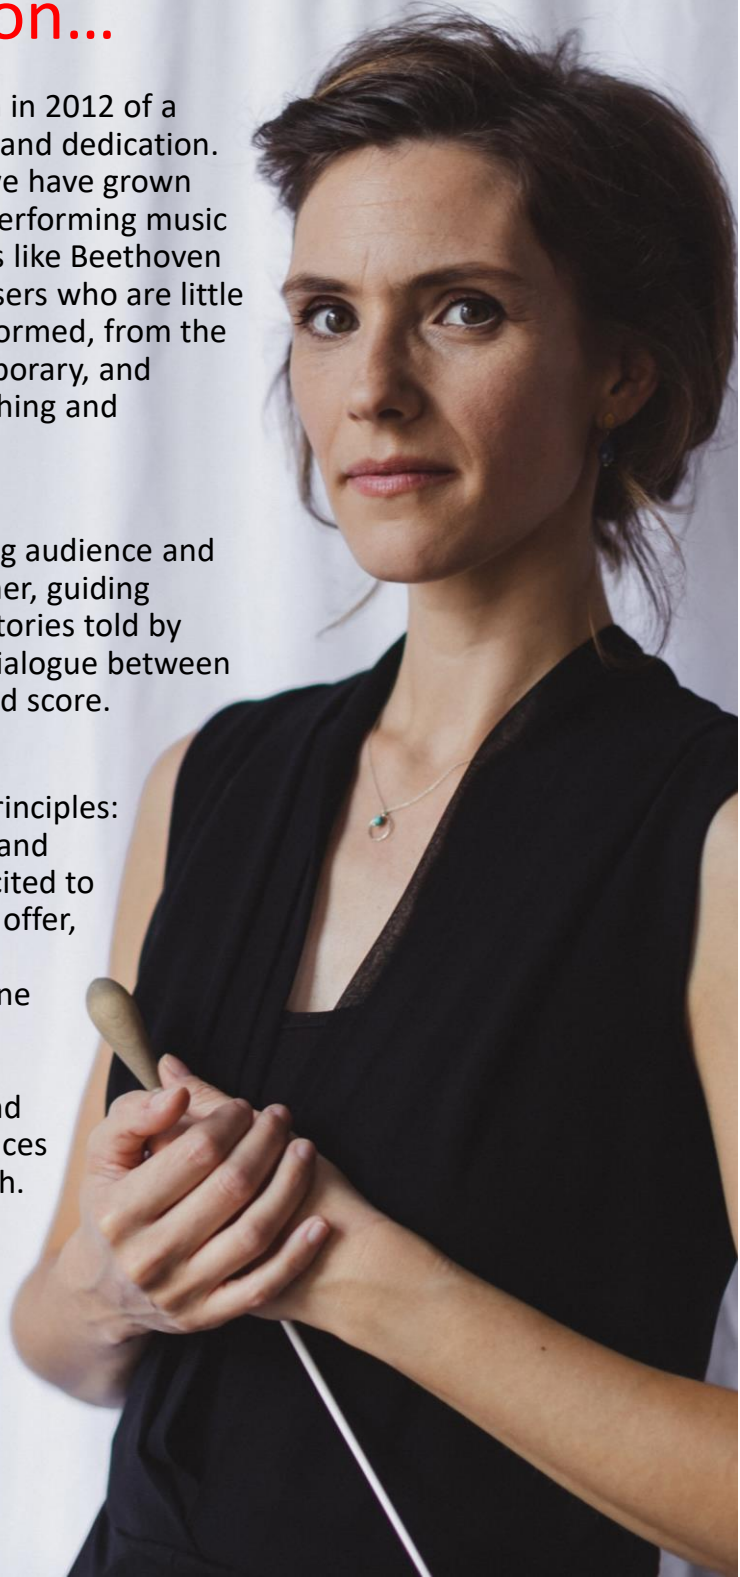

Arch Sinfonia was born in 2012 of a journey full of passion and dedication. Over the last decade we have grown and evolved through performing music from household names like Beethoven and Mozart, to composers who are little known and under performed, from the ancient to the contemporary, and featuring both establishing and established soloists.

Our objective is to bring audience and orchestra closer together, guiding listeners through the stories told by music and creating a dialogue between orchestra, audience and score.

Led by three guiding principles: to be daring, inspiring and accessible – we are excited to establish our outreach offer, nurture cross-arts collaborations and refine our unique audience development model, creating meaningful and unforgettable experiences for the people we reach.

I'd like to invite you to join us on this journey.

Chloé

Why we need your support

Since 2012 we have been able to perform with some of the world's most accomplished soloists and commission extraordinary music. We have survived a global pandemic, welcoming audiences back to the stage and have taken the leap from a small, self-funded project to a registered charity with a Board of Trustees with a long-term vision.

It has only been possible to come this far with thanks to the faith and support of people like you.

As we go forward it is more important than ever to build a sustainable future for Arch Sinfonia.

To do this we are asking for your support to continue connecting people through innovative music making, bridging artforms and transcending barriers.

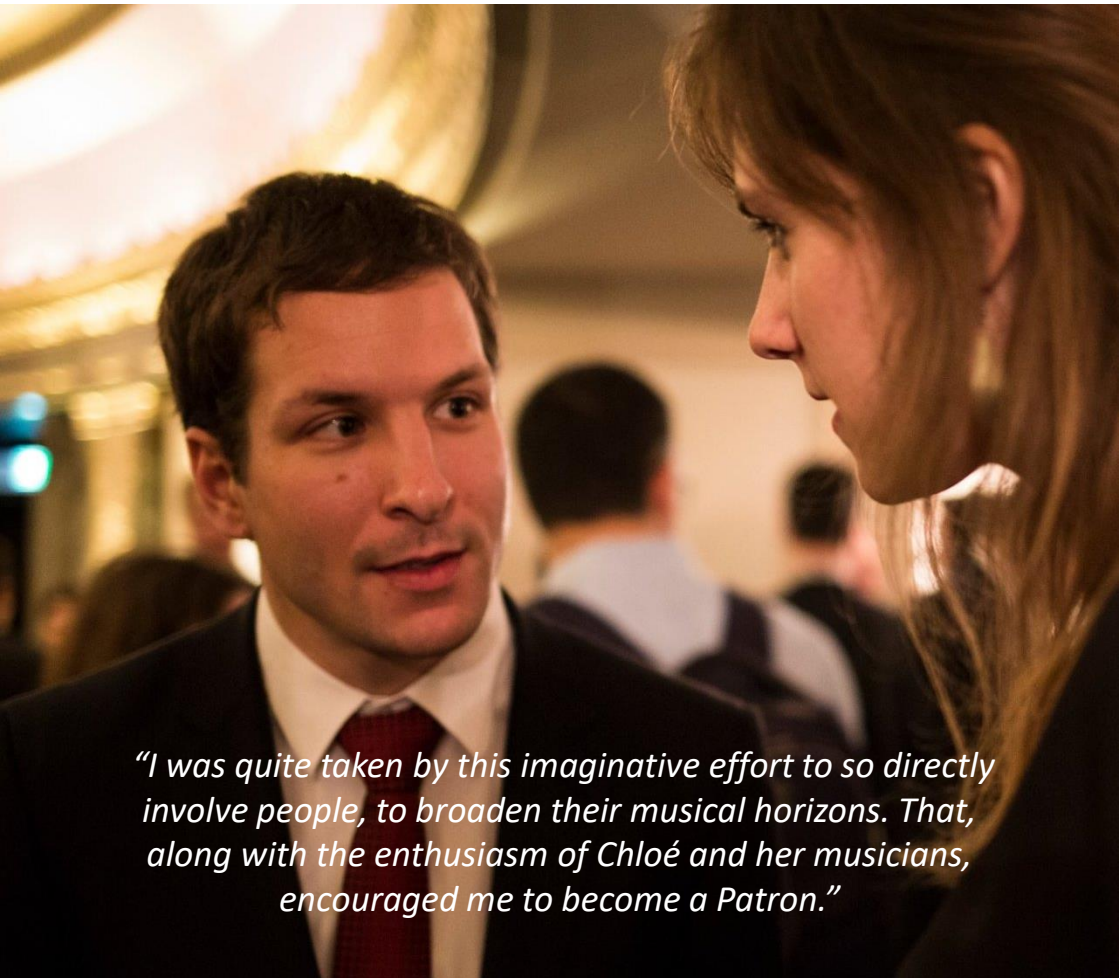

Being a Patron

At Arch Sinfonia, we want to build a dedicated community of like-minded people who are passionate advocates for the future of orchestral music, dynamic and forward-thinking, and with a readiness to make a difference.

By Joining the Patrons' Circle, you will get to see beyond what the public see, and will directly help shape the future of orchestral music performance and nurture artistic innovation.

Your gift will underpin the work of Arch Sinfonia contributing to securing exceptional soloists, commission new music, and provide meaningful learning experiences for audiences, young people and communities.

"I was quite taken by this imaginative effort to so directly involve people, to broaden their musical horizons. That, along with the enthusiasm of Chloé and her musicians, encouraged me to become a Patron."

Join the Patrons' Circle

Patrons will forge a close association with Arch Sinfonia, getting to know fellow Patrons, receiving exclusive insights and being the first to know.

In return for the generous gift £250-£499 you will receive:
